

Steiner

Definition Sudeten German Anton Steiner (*20 May 1855 – † 17 June 1920), buried in a cemetery near Karlovy Vary. The lettering on his gravestone served as the basis for a majestic display type, in which static and dynamic principles are in symbiotic opposition. A vertical shadow axis and heavy, triangle-shaped serifs anchor the letters firmly on the baseline, with serif diagonals accentuating the inner dynamics of the whole typeface. Distinctive lowercase bulbous terminals disrupt the seemingly strict triangular principle dominant in the uppercases. Deep incisions in the outstrokes to stem connections create a pleasing contrast and help cast away a slight weariness typical of Classicist Didot types. Six weights with increasing contrast form a palette of options one doesn't get bored with easily; the seventh version, simply titled Headline, is a shadowed version of the Black style and is most appropriate for death certificates and various manifests with no expiry date.

The Prague Spring (Czech: Pražské jaro, Slovak: Pražská jar) was a period of political liberalization in Czechoslovakia during the era of its domination by the Soviet Union after World War II. It began on 5 January 1968, when reformist Alexander Dubček was elected the First Secretary of Communist Party of Czechoslovakia, and continued until 21 August when the Soviet Union and all members of the Warsaw Pact, with the notable exception of Romania, invaded the country to halt the reforms.
